The Juli Plant Grainger Institute Presents:

Treasury Talk

Job Creation in the Short and Long Run

"A strong recovery from the COVID recession, due to unprecedented policy action, brought the U.S. to a 50-year-low unemployment rate of 3.4% in January 2023. But there is more work to do. Our economy can continue to create more and better jobs with the right investments."

featuring:

TARA SINCLAIR
Deputy Assistant Secretary for Macroeconomics in the Office of Economic Policy at the Department of Treasury

Tuesday, April 4
4:30-5:30PM
Memorial Union | Great Hall (4th Floor)
800 Langdon St. - Madison, WI

A reception with a nacho bar will be held at 5:30PM following the talk. Please join us!